19. FISH BAIT

19.1 Fish for use as live bait must only be used on the water from which they have been caught, and only during the same period of fishing. Eels must not be used as bait. Fish live baits must only be retained in a standard keepnet conforming to EA bylaws or a well-filled bucket ≥ 15 litre capacity, which must be fitted with a functioning aerator.

19.2 A maximum of ten live baits can be used in any one day, and any unused live baits or fish showing signs of distress must be returned to the water from which they were taken.

19.4 Fish for use as dead bait must be sea fish or commercially frozen dead baits.

20. CRAYFISH

20.1 It is illegal to use crayfish, of any species, whether alive or dead, and whether whole or in part, as bait.

20.2 To prevent the spread of alien species, the EA recommends that signal crayfish if caught are immediately killed and carefully disposed of. However, anglers unsure of the difference between native white-clawed crayfish and signal crayfish should immediately return any crayfish caught alive to the water from which they were caught.

20.3 Crayfish traps must not be used without the express permission of the Committee.

21. GUEST TICKETS

21.1 Guest tickets at £10 per day must be obtained in advance from specified tackle shops (see p42). If the guest subsequently becomes a member of the Club during the same season, they may claim a £10 discount on their membership. Details are given on the guest tickets.
